Director's Note.

It is a privilege for us at ACT to have the opportunity to produce a new play by an established American playwright. We are grateful to N. Richard Nash for his confidence in ACT and for his assistance in our later rehearsals.

Launching a new play is always fraught with uncertainty, but after rehearsals that have been as intense and exciting as any I have had, I believe ACT audiences will find ECHOES a richly rewarding theatre experience.

Earlier this summer there was a pilot production of ECHOES done by students at the University of Minnesota, and during the next year there will be more than 50 productions of it at non-profit theatres across the country, under the sponsorship of the American Playwrights Theatre.

Gregory A. Falls

A children's theatre is tentatively scheduled to tour schools throughout the State this fall, under the auspices of the Washington State Cultural Enrichment Program.

ACT's 1972 season is supported in part by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts in Washington, D.C., a Federal agency created by Act of Congress in 1965.

Our thanks to PONCHO who made a substantial contribution toward our purchase of this building.

ACT acknowledges and thanks all the members of the Volunteer Committees for their tremendous efforts and work on behalf of all the theatre's activities.

SHOULD A BUSINESSMAN INVEST IN THE ARTS?

The presence of a lively arts community helps make the Puget Sound area a great place to live and to do business. An investment in the arts is an investment in the regional economy.

Business firms from Bellingham to Olympia support ACT Theatre, Seattle Symphony Orchestra, Seattle Opera Association, Seattle Repertory Theatre, Seattle Art Museum, Pacific Northwest Ballet Association and other cultural activities through the annual UNITED ARTS FUND, currently in progress.

Informative materials are available from The United Arts Council of Puget Sound - 305 Harrison/Seattle Center - Seattle, Washington 98109 - MU 2-3663.

ACT applauds those who contribute to this important activity.
